

Disclaimer:

Official FDA Disclaimer for dōTERRA

The Food and Drug Administration has not evaluated the statements. This product is not intended to diagnose, treat, cure, or prevent any disease.

dōTERRA International LLC. Essential Oil Wellness Advocate

Disclaimer

The use of Essential Oils must include knowledge and caution. Upon using essential oil tips, become familiar with the warnings for usage, including dosages amount, the frequency of use, and the various application methods such as internal, topical, and diffused, through the many available resources and always consult with a physician.

It is important to note that all essential oils are not the same or suitable for the various uses mentioned in the previous paragraph. Always, to take into consideration the age of the user, it is critical.

Always keep away from children, one's eyes, mucous membranes, open flames & treasured surfaces. Vital: if receiving treatment for a medical condition, consulting the healthcare professional before attempting to self-treat with essential oils is paramount.

The information presented is provided as a guideline. As a Wellness Advocate, I do not guarantee accuracy; the information provided based on research and data believed to be reliable based on the dōTERRA International LLC research department.

Accounts concerning health problems or conditions not intended as a diagnosis, a cure, treating, or prevention of any disease. Questions or concerns, in the use of essential oils or other products indicated on the Natural-U Blog website, please consult with a trusted healthcare professional before taking or using any of the products or recommendations mentioned on the site. Individually we are all very different; our bodies react differently to various compounds and products. The results may be significantly different from other people.

The Natural-U Blog website is for informational purposes only. I'm not a trained healthcare or medical professional. Do not rely solely on the information provided on the website; having a severe health issue or acute injury requires contacting a Licensed healthcare person.

Since I am not a licensed physician, I cannot diagnose or prescribe medications. The Disclaimer acts as an explicit waiver of any liability of the owner of Natural-U.com or the Natural-U.net website, as an Independent Wellness Advocate with dōTERRA Essential Oil International LLC.